Why Capstone Ignite Exists

The gap we decided to close

The Problem We Saw

- Millions of women have a phone and laptop – but no structured path to skill, confidence or income
- Technology education exists – but it is not designed with women in mind
- The pace is too fast, the environment is not always safe, and real-life outcomes are rarely made clear
- Women drop out not because they cannot learn – but because the course was not built for them

Our Response

- Capstone Ignite was designed from scratch as a women-first IT programme
- Every topic connects to real income, real independence or real confidence
- The pace, environment, activities and outcomes were all built around how women learn best – practically, collaboratively and with clear purpose

"If the course does not work for them – the course is the problem. Not the student."

– NoorAbbas, Founder

Built for You

No experience needed. No age limit. No judgement.

The Student (Age 16–25)

In school or just finished.
Wants IT skills but does not know where to start. Feels technology is too complicated or not made for her.

The Homemaker

Manages a household and family. Wants to build a skill she can use to earn from home without leaving her responsibilities.

The Job Seeker

Looking for work but lacks the digital skills employers expect. Wants to be competitive in a job market where technology is now essential.

The Curious One

Uses a phone and laptop every day but feels she only scratches the surface. Wants to go deeper and finally feel confident.

📌 If you saw yourself in any of these — Capstone Ignite was designed for you.

Our Mission

Three things we want every Capstone Ignite student to leave with

Digital Confidence

Walk into any office, open any computer and work without fear. Set up email, manage files, design graphics and navigate the internet safely – independently.

Income Potential

Canva design, MS Office, social media management, AI content creation, Fiverr and Upwork – every skill taught connects to a service people pay for every day.

Independence

The deepest goal is not a certificate – it is the moment a woman makes her first rupee using a skill she did not have before this course.

25 Days. 4 Phases. Skills That Last a Lifetime.

Every topic connects to real life — nothing taught just for theory

Why Students Choose Ignite

This is not just another IT class

Designed for Women

Not adapted from a generic course — built from scratch around how women learn best.

Every Student Has a Laptop

No watching from the side. Every class is hands-on. Every student practices on their own device every session.

Safe & Supportive Environment

No judgement. No competition. Questions are encouraged. Mistakes are part of learning. The classroom is a safe space.

Small Batch Sizes

Limited seats per batch means every student gets personal attention. No one gets left behind.

Real Skills, Real Outcomes

Nothing is taught without a clear connection to a job, a freelance service, or a daily task made easier.

Certificate & Portfolio

Students graduate with a recognised Evolance certificate AND a portfolio of real work — not just a piece of paper.

Day 25 – Graduation Day

The moment everything comes together

What Happens on the Final Day

- Every student presents her capstone project to parents, guests and the founder
- Projects include a digital business package, an AI content portfolio, or a complete freelance starter kit
- Certificates are awarded in a small ceremony
- Parents see exactly what their daughter or sister learned in 25 days

Why the Final Presentation Matters

- It is not an exam – it is a showcase
- Students present with confidence because they built everything themselves
- Word of mouth from graduation day has been one of the strongest drivers of new students

"The look on a parent's face when their daughter presents a professional project she built herself – that is why we built this course."

– NoorAbbas, Founder

- ✓ Every student who completes Capstone Ignite leaves with more digital skills than the average office employee in Pakistan.
